

Search Engine Query Maker And Navigator Crack +

This is the most complex and feature packed application I have ever developed, and has taken me months of working on it to reach the current product release. My goal with this project was to create a program that would compliment the query creation feature from Xmarks, and after months of work, development and testing it is here. The general features and capabilities of the program are as follows: All searches are actually driven by several different engines. Each of the engines can be individually specified by the user. Each engine supports different query specifications, including boolean operators, wildcards, etc. You can limit the number of search engines returned per search, and can select to randomize the order of searches (specifically, the order in which your engine will be listed). Most searches can be initiated from an option on the search result page, including copying the search result URL. Other features include: Search history Three different types of search history: General search history This is useful if you wish to save the information in the current search for later use. It can also be used in conjunction with the bookmark feature. This search history can be cleared by selecting the option from the search history list and selecting "Clear" from the context menu. Bookmark search history Bookmarks are saved to the user profile. Bookmarks can be cleared by selecting the option from the search history list and selecting "Clear" from the context menu. Last search history This is a sort of hybrid of the other two search history types. This last search history will record searches you have made from the "View Log" page. The searches will be ordered from most recently searched to least recently searched. Once a search reaches 1 year old it will be removed from the search history. Randomization of search history This feature is disabled by default. If enabled, the search history will be randomized periodically. Search results page All searches are shown with the typical search result page including a list of the search engines used, followed by the search results. Multiple search engines can be shown on a single page if desired. Search engine and URL information is presented at the bottom of the search result page. Search options Location - This is useful if you wish to search a particular server. Geo Location - This is useful if you want to search for information that is located on a geographic location. Date - This will limit searches to the Search Engine Query Maker And Navigator Screenshots: Search Engine Query Maker And Navigator ChangeLog: * New Features: 1. Added a new display option to the theme switcher, that allows the output of the "Save" button to include the fully qualified address. This is useful if you want to automatically create a new, search engine friendly URL for a link with a lengthy name. 2. Added an option to the theme switcher allowing you to disable the "Save" button on each theme selection. This can be useful in some cases where the dialog box leaves a lot of items on the screen, and makes switching back to the original theme to open the window a little unpleasant. 3. New theme: Ocean Theme. * Bug Fixes: 1. Fixed a bug that caused the program to act in an unexpected way if you double clicked a link while a custom URL was generated. 2. Fixed a bug that would sometimes cause the URL of a link to change from the correct URL to some other URL. 3. Fixed a problem that might sometimes cause links that you copied from a web browser to have a different URL than the URL of the original page.
